

10 Steps to Seducing a Man

If you want to understand how to seduce a man, especially if he's not your own boyfriend, use these ten tips to do just that.

It's subtle, devilishly innocent and he can never ever blame you for seducing him.

After all, by using these steps on seducing a man, you'll make him believe that he's actually the one who desires you.

#1 Work your eye contact

Now you don't want him to think you're attracted to him, so don't overdo the little staring game. Look, but always look away just as he looks at you. By doing that, he'll never be sure if you're even staring at him. And yet, he'd start to get more and more curious about you.

#2 Let him see your best side

Do you think you're sexy? No? Then start feeling sexy, dammit!

If you want to become a wily seductress, you need to feel like one. And when you do, you'll be able to perfect this move and put it to maximum use. Men love boobs and butt. You know that right?

Look your best when you're around the guy you want to seduce. Let him admire your curves and those toned sexy legs of yours. When he falls in love with your body, he's definitely on his way to getting seduced by you.

#3 A little peek-a-boo

The fascinating thing about being a woman is that you can do something outrageous like wearing extremely short skirts and plunging necklines and still blame a man for being a pervert. Of course, now we women aren't wearing these sexy outfits to please everyone, are we?

We're just wearing these cute outfits for the guys we want to seduce. So all the other perverts can just look away for all we care.

If you want to seduce a man, never bare everything or wear skimpy clothes. It draws the wrong kind of attention. Instead, wear something that gives you an opportunity to give him a little peek now and then. If he's standing around you, lean forward to pick a piece of paper or your bag. A guy's eyes are pretty quick when it comes to sneaky boob grazes. Giving a guy the chance to take a sneak peek now and then would only make him want to see them more, and hopefully without any clothes on.

Now taking the clothes off for him is your decision, but this move will definitely seduce him and make him want more.

#4 Smile for him

Men are automatically drawn towards women who seem happier and more fun to be with. A smiling, flirty woman is far more approachable than a surly, saggy woman. When you're having a conversation with him, smile often. It'll make you seem good natured and happy, which will draw him to you. But don't overdo the smiling by making it obvious that you've got a thing for him. You're trying to seduce him, not let him know you like him!

#5 Flirt with him

If you've got these first few steps down to the tee, the guy you're seducing would already be attracted to you, sexually or otherwise. Now it's time to warm him up and let him know that you're up for a bit of safe flirting now and then. When you're having a conversation with him, start flirting with him and make him want to continue the conversation with you. If his eyes are ready to pop out in excitement or if he's got bits of drool, you're doing a great job at this, aren't you, you seductress?

#6 Lingering unexpected touches

When you're having a conversation with him at lunch, place your fingers over his palm while emphasizing a point or hold him by his hand as you're crossing the street. If you're sitting next to him, allow your feet to touch his feet and pretend like you didn't notice. Create circumstances to let him touch you, and he'll want more.

#7 Don't throw yourself at him

If you want to know how to seduce a guy, never ever throw yourself at him or let him know that you think he's hot stuff. By letting a guy know that you're already interested in him, he wouldn't feel excited by any of your antics. He'll just assume you're trying really hard to get his attention. And you don't want that.

When you let a guy know you like him, it'll make him start the game of playing hard to get with you. Instead of seducing a guy, you'll end up looking trashy and clingy. Always make it look like he's the one pursuing you, even if you're laying a seduction trail for him with each step you take.

#8 Ignore him now and then

Every once in a while, when you feel like things are going too smooth between the two of you, stop giving him a lot of attention and conversation time. A guy will always take things easy when he feels like he's having a great time with a girl. So at least at the beginning, don't ever let him feel like he's able to make an impression on you. Ignore him now and then, or just play hard to get with him. It'll shake up his insecurities all over again, and make him woo you harder.

#9 Take him to the dance floor

Guys can never resist a girl's curves. Take those sexy curves and move them on a dance floor, and he'll be floored by you.

If you can work your way around getting this guy to take you out clubbing, then you're definitely on cloud nine of seducing a man. Show off your skills on the dance floor, and let him watch you. Dancing with each other is a great way to build the sexual chemistry and leave a few lasting memories with lingering touches.

#10 Create awkward situations

If you want to know how to seduce a man, get this right and you'd leave the guy you want to seduce with a heart full of love and a trouser that's stretching on a hard on!

Squeeze into a crowded elevator with him and "unknowingly" let your butt graze against his leg. If he's sitting down in a chair, come from behind him and reach across his table to get something when he's not looking. He'll involuntarily turn and his shoulders have nowhere to touch but your breasts. And that's by accident, of course. And when you hug him, make sure he can feel your girly parts touch against him. Don't make any of these moves obvious and he'll think he's the lucky one for getting to touch you in places he could only dream of.

Give him the chance to touch you, and create awkward situations around him. His pants will get tighter, and he'll do more than just fantasize about you.